Schuman Forms Coalition Cabinet To Stabilize France

Ruling Body Is Seventh Since Liberation From Nazi Domination; Paris Guarded

Paris, Nov. 24 (AP)—Premier Robert Schuman announced today the formation of a new cabinet and immediately plunged into the task of dealing with a spreading wave of strikes that threatened the nation with economic disaster. Already tied up by walkouts were nine out of every 10 railroads in France. All the country's harbors and most of her coal mines were idle, and all grade schools in the capital were closed. The situation was further complicated by the threat of disturbances arising from a one-franc increase in subway fares in Paris, which went into effect at 6 a. m. today.

To meet the threat several thousand mobile gendarmes were rushed into the city last night and reservists of the 1947 class, who recently were recalled to duty, were assembled in readiness at Fontainebleau, 40 miles south of the capital.

Schuman announced the formation of his new government at 12:15 p. m. after 36 hours of negotiating with the leaders of all major political parties except the Communist and Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Rally of the French People (R.F.P.).

The cabinet—France's seventh since her liberation from German domination—is composed of six members of Schuman's Popular Republican Movement (M.R.P.), five members of the Socialist Party's Radical Right Wing, three Middle-of-the-Road Socialists and one Moderate Independent Republican.

Retained as foreign minister in the new government was Georges Bidault, a member of the M.R.P., who is scheduled to depart for London tonight to participate in the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference, which opens there tomorrow.

The remainder of the cabinet was constituted as follows:

Interior—Julius Moch (Socialist).

Justice—Andre Marie (Radical Socialist).

Armed forces—Pierre Henri Teitgen (M.R.P.).

Social affairs, including labor—Daniel Mayer (Socialist).

Overseas—Paul Coste-Floret (M.R.P.).

Public works—Christian Pineau (Socialist).

Economic affairs and finance—René Mayer (Radical Socialist).

National education—Marcel Nguenon (Socialist).

Reconstruction—René Coty (Independent Republican).

War veterans—Francis Mitterand (Radical Socialist).

Commerce and industry—Robert Lacoste (Socialist).

Agriculture—Pierre Pflimlin (M.R.P.).

Public health—Mme. Poingon-Champetier (M.R.P.).

In political complexion the new government does not differ radically from that of Schuman's predecessor, Socialist Paul Ramadier, who resigned last Wednesday.

One new angle was added, however, with the inclusion of a minister who openly supports de Gaulle—René Mayer. Socialist leaders were reported to have been strongly opposed to Mayer because of his sympathy with the de Gaulle lists, who were highly critical of the Ramadier government.

In addition to Bidault, Schuman, Moch, Marie, Teitgen, Daniel Mayer, Nguenon and Lacoste all served in the Ramadier cabinet. Ramadier himself was reported to have turned down an appointment as minister of the interior in the new government. Leon Blum, former premier and elder statesman of the Socialist Party, who tried unsuccessfully last week to form a cabinet, also was reported to have declined the post of vice premier.

The first meeting of the new cabinet was scheduled for 4 p. m. (10 a. m. today).

Schuman, who served as minister of finance under Ramadier, issued a brief statement referring to the "considerable and difficult task" facing his government and appealing to the "discipline and good will of all Frenchmen" to enable him to deal with the situation.

'Meager Rations' Could Come, He Says, if State Department Takes Purchases to Full Amount; Anderson Speaks

Washington, Nov. 24 (AP)—Senator Bridges (R-N.H.) said today there is a "strong probability" that the administration's plan for emergency aid to Italy, France and Austria will result in a serious food shortage in the United States.

Bridges, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, made that statement as Secretary of Agriculture Anderson testified before the group in support of President Truman's request for $597,000,000 for emergency aid to the three countries.

Congress has been given only a promise, that shipments of grain to Europe will be curtailed if next year's grain crops are poor, Bridges said. He added:

"If the State Department takes the purchases to the full amount and a bad crop ensues, the American people will be subject not only to rationing but possibly to meager rations."

Anderson acknowledged that "there are some problems" but he testified:

"By acting promptly and adequately we can prevent a great deal of human misery, and by so doing we shall be holding open the world's chance to make a just and lasting peace."

In the Senate branch of Congress, the situation on the President's request is this:

The Foreign Relations Committee has approved legislation to authorize expenditure of up to $597,000,000 on emergency aid. That bill went before the Senate today with supporters predicting passage by Wednesday.

But before any actual aid is sent, a separate bill must be passed appropriating the money to pay for it. This will have to come from Bridges' Committee.

Bridges declared his group will write no "blank check" for such aid "no matter how persuasive the argument in favor of such a foolish procedure."

He said the State Department had failed to provide Congress with a detailed justification of the request for $597,000,000.

Mr. Truman in his personally delivered message presenting the program, told the legislators it would add to economic strains here at home.

To cope with those stresses and strains

Contributions to Kingston's Friendship Trailer which is scheduled to leave for New York tomorrow afternoon, were approaching the goal of 28,000 pounds today, according to the Lions Club committee.

Estimates on the total of goods and money contributed, according to John R. Short, committee chairman and Walter Donnan, president of the club, indicated that the goal will be reached before the truck heads for New York sometime tomorrow afternoon.

Other contributions will be received up until noon tomorrow in both money and goods.

The time of the truck's departure from the Styles depot on TenBroeck avenue will be decided upon later. It is estimated that the trailer-truck will carry at least 600 cases of foods to Pier 42, New York.

There it will be left at a New York Central railroad warehouse pending transfer to the Oregon, a ship of the French Line.

The goods collected locally have come from the city's factories, schools, church groups, other organizations and many individuals.

The foods are largely of the dried type such as spaghetti and macaroni, flour and others. They include evaporated milk, pork and beans and baby foods.

The committee has cooperated in attempting to fulfill the requests and suggestions of individual contributors and money contributions were used for such items as baby food when requested.

All cases are labeled with the names of donors and each bears the name of the city.

A ton of flour, the gift of a local anonymous donor, will be added to the city's shipment in New York, the committee said today.

The committee spokesman said today that they were thankful for the cooperation of the people of the city and county in supporting the local campaign. Individual contributors, they said, indicated the proper spirit in donations received by mail, and many gave generously.

71 Students Participate In Nyack Sectional Concert

The annual All-State Sectional Concert sponsored by the New York State School Music Association was held at Nyack High School auditorium Saturday evening. Leonard Stine, music supervisor of the local schools, was guest conductor for the chorus and Walter Beeler of Ithaca College for the band.

A similar concert was given at Kingston High School last November.

Seventeen schools were represented from this region with 23 Ulster county students in the band and 48 in the chorus. In addition the Kingston group sang two ensemble numbers.

Those in the band from Kingston were Betty Jane Smith, flute; Helen Kukuks, bassoon; William Gould, bass.

From Marlborough—Thelma Dalby, Marjorie Kniffen, flute; Joseph Camaglia, Lois Greiner, Geraldine Prizzia, clarinet; Thelma Rulim, tenor saxophone; Eleanor Lichtler, baritone saxophone; Calvin Wygant, French horn; Valere Daves, Bill Velle, trumpet; Florence Daves, trombone.

Ellenville—Louis Hoornbeek, clarinet; Robert Benson, Carlton Hall, cornet; Robert Booth, trombone; John Terwilliger, bass.

New Paltz—Nancy Elsbree, Gordon Smith, clarinet; Earl Slater, French horn; Eugene Trautwein, baritone.

Personnel of the chorus included from Kingston—Harriet Boice, Mary Notter, Marjorie Hinkley, Joan Ten Eyck, Barbara Haver, soprano; Elizabeth Allen, Joan Wells, Betty Sweeney, Marilyn Kuntz, Carolyn Morgan, altos; Burwell Decker, Chester Miller, Peter Gannon, LeVan Merrinew, Joseph Shapiro, tenors; Harry Koch, Donald Laidlaw, Roy Thorpe, Alex Rowland and James Embree, basses.

Spaulding Urges More State Aid as Help for Education

Request Follows Dewey's Earlier Statement Millions More to Be Spent

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 24 (AP)—An "immediate and substantial increase" in state aid for schools was urged today by Education Commissioner Francis T. Spaulding.

In an address prepared for the annual convention of the House of Delegates of the New York State Teachers Association, Spaulding also asked support for the controversial promotional increment plan in the Tenberg teacher salary law. Repeal of the system was called for by several speakers at the opening session yesterday.

Miss Mary A. Sheehan of Rochester, association president, said in a report prepared for the delegates that the teachers should give "priority" to their fight to obtain what they consider "adequate" state aid to schools.

The association has demanded an additional $103,000,000 annually.

Governor Dewey told a news conference three days ago the state would spend "millions" of dollars more next year to help "poorer" school districts. He said the education section of the budget would jump $27,500,000 plus "substantial additional sums" running into millions.

Spaulding declared the "burden of steeply rising prices and costs has fallen chiefly on the local for the school districts" except for the state's "emergency grant for teachers' salaries and for a temporary addition to the state aid provided for centralized schools."

"This burden has also brought about an impairment of school programs," he added. "Unless it is quickly and substantially relieved, the inevitable result will be still further impairments from which we shall be many years in recovering."

"It is proper to expect," Spaulding said, "that every school district will make a reasonable effort, within the limits of its own financial resources, to provide education for its own children. Except as we insist on this local effort we shall lose the sense of local responsibility and concern which is essential to the most effective planning and management of our education program."

Points Stressed:

1. There must be "immediate and substantial increase in the amount of state money allocated to schools."

2. The "increasing burden of costs in many districts be met in no other way than through an increase in state aid."

3. "In any revision of the state aid formula the governing principle should be that of supplementing local financial resources so that every district will have the funds to provide at least a minimum acceptable educational program."

4. State aid should be "calculated in terms of what it costs at current prices to maintain a minimum acceptable educational program."

Governor Dewey, at his news conference, said financial assistance to wealthier school districts must not be reduced through a pending revision of the Friedman formula, by which state money is apportioned to local education.

Dewey said the budget would include $27,500,000 to "continue" funds appropriated from the surplus last winter to help defray teacher pay raises and increased aid to central schools. The unestimated increases will "provide for the equalization factor" in revision of the Friedman formula and for "large additional sums for higher education," he added.

Spaulding promised to "do everything in my power" to carry out a proposal by the Teachers Association resolution committing that automatic salary increments be adjusted to "carry teachers to the level of the ninth salary step instead of the sixth, as at present—that is, to $3,200 after eight years of experience."

He said he believed automatic increments under the present schedule did not go "high enough."

Hudson Valley Service Corp. Control Bought by Bogert

Cities Service Dealer Acquires Half Share Held by Burgevin Since August

Majority control of the Hudson Valley Service Corp., of Delaware avenue this city, distributors of Cities Service products, was purchased Saturday by Larry Van Houten Bogert of Stone Ridge.

In the transaction G. David Burgevin, son of the late Julius Burgevin and Mrs. Burgevin, of Main street, this city, sold the half interest which he had held since August.

Attorneys in the transaction were William R. Riser for Burgevin, while Lloyd LeFever represented Bogert.

Bogert and Burgevin purchased one-third interests each in the distribution center in March of this year. Half interests were acquired in 1946.

Brown was a former president of Electrol Incorporated, this city, and left Kingston in 1941 to form the Brown and Taylor manufacturing concern in Cranford, N. J. Taylor, former factory superintendent at Electrol, has bought Brown's interest in the New Jersey business.

Bogert was born January 3, 1903 in Brooklyn. His family moved to Garden City in 1913 and Bogert was educated at St. Paul's School, Garden City. He was a classmate at Yale, Class of 1924, of John D. Schoonmaker, Jr., this city, president of Island Dock.

Faulty Fireplace Blamed for Blaze

Bernstein House Damaged in Saturday Fire on Pearl Street

Fire which threatened to do considerable damage to the residence of Sam Bernstein at 173 Pearl street was extinguished by the Kingston Fire Department Saturday night.

Firemen responding to the alarm at 9:30 p. m., found that the fire was eating up between the siding and wallboard behind the fireplace.

Part of the siding had to be cut away before the fire could be extinguished with a hydrant stream.

In his report, Deputy Chief George Matthews listed the cause as faulty construction of the fireplace, saying that it was too close to the siding of the house.

The house is a two-story and attic frame dwelling. Engine three responded to the alarm, and Fire Captain Edwin P. Murphy, upon arrival, sent a call for truck two.

Deputy Chief Matthews said that if the fire had gotten more of a start, the result would have been quite serious.

Slowdowns Appear Again

Detroit, Nov. 24 (AP)—Slowdowns by union printers, which plagued Detroit's three daily newspapers last week, cropped up again today and delayed the first edition of the Times 47 minutes.

The Detroit News, however, said its composing room was operating on schedule although its first edition was delayed by an accumulation of advertising which it was forced to drop last week. Woodruff Randolph, president of the International Typographical Union, was expected to confer soon with representatives of the News, Times and Morning Free Press.

Regrets No Aid Asked For Chinese

Also Is Sorry Truman Couple Anti-Inflation Bid With Emergency Call

Says Unity Is Over

International Ties Have Fallen Apart, Senator Says

Washington, Nov. 24 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) asked the Senate today for speedy approval of $597,000,000 emergency aid for Europe to defeat the "furling tyranny" of "Communist aggression."

Vandenberg, who heads the Foreign Relations Committee, left his presiding officer's chair to open debate on legislation to authorize winter relief for France, Italy and Austria.

He told the Senate he regrets that President Truman coupled a request for anti-inflation measures with the request for emergency aid and regrets that Mr. Truman did not also ask stop-gap aid for China.

The aid proposal, he said, must not be taken as "a declaration of economic war between western and eastern Europe, unless Moscow persists in its apparently pathetic mistaken purpose to make it such to its own everlasting detriment."

"There is grievous need for the restoration of east-west trade and friendship in a 'live and let live' world," he declared. "Nothing projected in our short or long range plans will interfere—except on Soviet initiative."

Approves Principle

This measure simply approves the principle of aid up to $597,000,000 worth. If Congress approves it, separate bills appropriating the money will have to be passed before aid becomes an actuality.

The Michigan senator told his colleagues that the international unity which won the war has "fallen apart."

"A new type of Communism is on the march," he said in a prepared address. "In the United Nations, which is still the world's best bridge across the ominous gap, this new aggression boycotts what it cannot defeat or veto."

"It operates not only through ruthless pressures on often terrorized satellites. It operates through internal subversion and sabotage in other lands where its trained and disciplined minorities faithfully contribute to encourage Communistic conquest."

Shares Disappointments

In offering the bill, forerunner of a proposed long-range European recovery program, Vandenberg told his colleagues he shares the "disappointments" of some other senators that previous relief projects in some instances have "gone wrong."

"He said he wants the senators to understand that they can support this bill without any sort of commitment to any other relief programs which Congress may subsequently confront."

Vandenberg said, too, that he regrets that President Truman "saw fit to tie this interim aid program into his anti-inflation message."

"It invited an erroneous public reaction," the Michigan senator declared.

Then he added that the United States must "be externally vigilant in respect to conditions on the home front," or it might "ruin the world" by the sort of economic collapse "prayerfully prophesied from Moscow."

Designed to Help

Vandenberg, whose views as an adviser at various international conferences have come under fire of the Kremlin, told his colleagues

13 Million Contract Awarded to Firms On Downsville Job

Contracts totalling $13,700,510 were let Thursday to the Walsh Construction Company and E. Perrini & Sons, Inc., for preliminary work to start a diversion tunnel at Downsville. It was learned today. Work will start immediately.

When completed the work will total close to $35,000,000.

Wednesday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in the family plot in Montrose cemetery.

Mrs. Julia Witkowska, widow of Jacob Witkowski, and resident of Kingston for more than 60 years, died Saturday evening following a long illness. Mrs. Witkowska was a devoted member of the Immaculate Conception Church until her illness in recent years prevented her from attending services. She also was a faithful member of the Holy Rosary Society. She is survived by three sons, Stephen, John and Edward of Kingston; a daughter, Mrs. John Burns of Yonkers and four grandchildren. The funeral will be held from the home of her son, Stephen Witkowski, 187 Murray street, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and 9:30 o'clock at the Immaculate Conception Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in the family plot in Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

The funeral of Woodrow Wilson Diehl who died suddenly at his home Thursday, 81 Home street, was held from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue, Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and 9:30 o'clock at St. Peter's Church where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Henry E. Herdgen. Responses to the Mass were sung by Edward P. Cherney, assisted by Miss Nan Goldrick at the organ. At the offertory he sang "Domine Jesu" and at the conclusion "In Paradisum." Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery where the Rev. Father Herdgen gave the final blessing. Friday evening a large delegation of the Holy Name Society of St. Peter's Church called and was led in the recitation of the rosary by Father Herdgen. The Rev. Joseph A. Geier also called and said prayers for the dead. Bearers were George, John and Louis Duffner and Kenneth Elanschan.

Pvt. Clark's Body To Arrive Tuesday From Army Depot

Private Services to Be Held at Kukuk Chapel; Newburgh Pastor to Officiate

ATWOOD B. CLARK

The body of Pvt. Atwood B. Clark, son of Margaret Atwood Clark and the late Robert Clark, of 197 Bruyn avenue, will arrive in Kingston at 12:10 p. m., Tuesday from the Brooklyn General Distribution Depot.

The body will be taken to the Kukuk Memorial Funeral Home, 167 Tremper avenue, where private memorial services will be held at 2:30 p. m. The Rev. Frank Carruthers, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Newburgh, will officiate. Burial will be in the River View Cemetery, Port Ewen, with full military honors being accorded by the Esopus Post, American Legion.

Pvt. Clark's body was one of the 6,251 returned to this country aboard the Army transport Joseph V. Connolly, which docked in New York late last month. His military burial was in the Henri Chapelle cemetery at Eupen, Belgium. Killed in 1944.

Pvt. Clark entered service November 17, 1942, and received his basic training at Camp Adair, Ore., and was later assigned to Camp Carson, Colo.
He was sent overseas about the middle of August, 1944, and arrived in France. He saw service in Belgium and Holland with the infantry and was reported killed in action on November 4, 1944, in Holland. He was a member of Company E, 405th Infantry, better known as the Timberwolves.
Prior to entering service Pvt. Clark attended Kingston High School and was employed at the Hercules Powder Company, Port Ewen, for nine months.
His mother is his only survivor.

We smiled a few short years ago
When Mary Ann was born
The dawn dropped in to say "hello"
And sunshine graced the morn.

Then came a day when school began
And dolls were placed aside
While mother went with Mary Ann
Who seemed so unchildlike.

Then Junior High with all the crowd
And now another scene
For Mary Ann is in a cloud
The child is sweet sixteen.

Tomorrow's wait with open arms
And life is dressed in rose
The future holds a thousand charms
Where each tomorrow grows.

It's sweet sixteen for Mary Ann

And though we cannot shape life's plan
We'll share each lovely dream.

Campaign to Get Reserve Officers Back Into Fold

New York's Reserve Officers Association issued a call of preparedness to all of its civilian components as plans were made this week to get all reserve officers "back into the association's fold" so that they may be kept promptly advised of current developments and have the advantage of the instruction programs now being sponsored by the Association.

Although R.O.A. officials denied that the growing seriousness of world affairs fostered this immediate action, it was pointed out that "all reserve officers make up a civilian component that is essential to the security of this country."

Col. William K. Shyne, Troy attorney and New York's R.O.A. national council member, said, "The active influence of every reserve officer is needed now to help us perpetuate an adequate national security for our country."

R.O.A. chapter presidents throughout the state are being informed to press their members for correct addresses. Many reserve officers have moved since they left the armed forces without notifying the War Department of the change of their address.

Reserve Officer officials pointed out that correct addresses are important especially in the event of recall to duty.

New York State has the largest number of reserve officers in the nation. As plans for the extended membership drive were made, Lt. Colonel Robert W. Parks, New York's R.O.A. president from Binghamton, explained that the most economical insurance against attack and loss of prestige in international affairs can be best secured by maintaining an efficient but small Regular Army, plus strong reserve components, in being and in readiness; an adequate Air Force, instantly available and provided with up-to-date equipment; a Navy and Marine Corps, including the reserves, adequate to meet their responsibilities on the national defense team.

Research and development operations should be maintained at all times so this country will be kept abreast of all scientific developments, affecting national security.

The R.O.A. stresses the need for a world-wide intelligence system. Adequate provision for the training of civilian component personnel and the establishing equipping and training of a civilian defense organizations are additional objectives high on the R.O.A. program.

More Revenue Is Expected From Christmas Trees

The state forests may provide more revenue for Christmas trees this year than ever before, according to a statement from the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse University.

All state forest land from which Christmas trees are taken is outside of the Forest Preserve which is located in the Adirondack and Catskill parks. Since the establishment of what is known as the Hewitt Reforestation Program in 1929, the state has been acquiring abandoned farms and denuded land. This idle land has been reforested and many of the plantations are old enough to supply Christmas trees.

In 1946 the state sold 68,000 Christmas trees, averaging 34 cents each. This was a record for the number of trees sold. Last year there were fewer trees sold, but they brought approximately 51 cent each and a total of $29,370. This year, due to increased costs and high bidding, the price per tree may exceed last year's record.

There are probably 10 million Christmas trees sold in the United States, New York and Pennsylvania. Canada and the Maritime Provinces normally are large exporters of Christmas trees to the United States.

Christmas trees, properly selected from a plantation of young forest trees, improve the plantation. This thinning stops crowding and gives more room so bigger and better trees will grow. Private owners of young forest plantations should consult a district forester before thinning their forests for the Christmas market. Applications for trees in quantity should be sent to the Conservation Department, Albany.

THE FIRST GERMANS

The first German business men to visit the United States since before the war have arrived in New York City, and will tour the United States. They are manufacturers of silk and leather goods, jewelry and silver, porcelain and toys. They come by permission of the American Military Government in Germany.

Doubtless Germans must live, and live by manufacture and sale of goods. But it must take some nerve for Germans to seek business in foreign countries after the crimes with which their Nazi government is inextricably associated. Germans, however, doubtless think good business their due as members of the German race.

Americans have no objection to doing honest business with members of any nation. Moreover, they wish to see Germany get on its feet in a decent and honorable way. So undoubtedly plenty of business will be done.

But we do hope the German business men, for their own sake and Germany's are not too arrogant in their manner. Americans can take a lot—but there's a point beyond which they can not be pushed.

The greatest tariff cut in American history, just made under the international trade agreement signed at Geneva, would once have been the banner news of the day. The tariff used to be the chief issue of American politics, and a new law filled the newspapers for months before enactment. Now cuts are made by administrative agreement with other nations.

ACTIVE RETIREMENT

Thired workers, looking forward to their retirement age as an indefinite period of idleness must give up this idea, according to Dr. Clarence A. Neymann, Associate Professor of psychiatry in the Northwestern University medical school. Speaking in Chicago recently, Dr. Neymann warned that such a course leads to senile dementia.

Retirement from one's lifetime business or profession is advisable, but the time gained should be filled with some form of real work which will make demands enough upon the brain to keep that organ from atrophy. New mental interests are advised, but manual work has its place also. It is the state of being usefully occupied which is desirable.

Many men and women have developed hobbies during their working years and are eager to retire and devote themselves to their sidelines. Non-hobbyists would be wise to start planning for an active life after retirement, thus avoiding a helpless and pathetic old age.

Thirty years ago Notre Dame was unheard of as a producer of national championship football teams. Will it continue to be on top 30 years from now? Or will there be no intercollegiate football 30 years from now?

GOVERNMENTAL SCANDAL

The forced resignation of Hugh Dalton as Chancellor of the Exchequer is unparalleled in British history. He admitted having tipped off his budget proposals to a London newspaper before presenting them to Parliament. No one who attained such a high governmental post could be ignorant of the advantages speculators might reap from advance knowledge of tax recommendations. The British are so polite in their references to official shortcomings that no one seems to have asked out loud just why Dalton did this. Was he in on a speculator's pool, or was he just being kind to a newspaper friend? This could bear investigation.

The real fear in Great Britain is not whether they will get through this year, but whether matters may not get so much worse that in three or four years they will look back with longing to the good old days of 1947.

It sometimes seems as if rising prices would finally end all business activity because no one would have enough money for anything. Then our economic system would have

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

A MAD VICE PRESIDENT

This country once had a Vice President who was undoubtedly mad. He was maddened by unsatisfied ambition to gain the Presidency. He had killed a man in bitterness over that failure. He now was engaged in a conspiracy to destroy the United States. To that conspiracy he managed to attract many men and women, some of them of importance in national affairs. He even sought to sell his country and its heritage to foreign nations and negotiated with both Great Britain and Spain for financial support. One of his principal lieutenants held a major post in the United States Army, but even while in that post he was a pensioner of a foreign government and did its bidding. The mad former Vice President was, of course, Aaron Burr.

The British Ambassador to the United States, who was a party to this conspiracy, wrote: "It is astonishing that the Government here should have remained so long in ignorance of the intended design as even not to know with certainty at this moment the object of the preparations which they have learned are now making."

General James Wilkinson was the Governor-General of the new Louisiana Territory which the United States had purchased from France. But it was this same James Wilkinson who, as early as 1787, had entered into a conspiracy with Governor Miro, then the Spanish ruler of Louisiana, to separate American territory west of the Alleghenies and form it into a vast Empire under the protection of Spain. This particular movement failed, but when Burr appeared on the scene it was one of the various schemes that formed the amalgam of his treason. Henry Adams recounts that Joseph H. Davis, who was a United States District Attorney in Kentucky, wrote President Jefferson: "A separation of the Union in favor of Spain is the object finally. I know not what are the means."

He also warned the President that General Wilkinson "... has been for years, and now is, a pensioner of Spain."

It is astonishing to read the names of the leading citizens who somehow found their way into the Burr plot. But the most incongruous name of all is that of Andrew Jackson, who seemed to be head over heels involved in it. Henry Adams says of this: "On Jackson's part, this conduct was peculiarly surprising, because more than a month before he had written to Governor Claiborne at New Orleans a secret denunciation of Burr and Wilkinson, couched in language which showed such intimate knowledge of Burr's plans as could have come only from Burr himself or Adam. In accepting Burr's disavowals, December 14, Jackson did not mention to Burr his denunciation letter written to Claiborne, November 12, in which he said: 'I fear treachery has become the order of the day.' Like Senator Smith, he was satisfied to secure his own safety; and upon Burr's denial of a treasonable scheme, Jackson, although he did not write to Claiborne to withdraw the secret charges, went on building boats, providing supplies, and enlisting men for his expedition. His motives for this conduct remained his own secret."

Of course the Burr conspiracy failed. It was Wilkinson, General in the army and servant of an alien government, that finally destroyed Burr, undoubtedly to save himself and his alien masters. Wilkinson was more concerned with saving Mexico than the United States. He enjoyed a pension of $2,000 a year (then some money), in consideration of his secret services; a pension he was paid for 20 years. Wilkinson was General-in-Chief of the United States Army while he was serving an alien master.

The astonishing fact is that a former Vice-President of the United States, a candidate for the Presidency, almost elected, joined by one who in time actually became President, together with genuine businessmen, bankers, politicians united to destroy their country and were willing to accept foreign subsidies. And they faced a government asleep that would not wake up until it was almost too late. It was a God-given good fortune that saved this country from Burr's conspiracy—not anything else. For Burr worked almost in the open.

Does history really repeat itself? Does it? (Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

MORE STOMACH CANCERS

A close relative came into my office complaining of a pain in his hip, no pain anywhere else. However, as he admitted a feeling of "tightness" across his abdomen and that he didn't enjoy smoking any more, I examined his abdomen and found a large mass—cancer—too late for operation. He died three months later and suffered little pain.

The pain in his hip was really a "secondary" growth carried from the stomach cancer. He had not complained of pain in the stomach nor of indigestion. This is not an unusual case. Where the symptoms are thus "hidden," even a physician may not suspect cancer of the stomach.

However, physicians and medical students are becoming stomach-cancer conscious, especially where the patient is past 40 years of age. This is because some patients do not suffer much pain or other disturbance; yet cancer of the stomach occurs more often than cancer of all the other organs combined—even more often than cancer of the uterus, or breast, in women.

Figures quoted by government and cancer organizations show that of deaths from cancer, 30 to 40 per cent are caused by stomach cancer. When we remember that any surface tissue of the body—skin, lining of organs—can develop cancer, and remember further that cases of stomach cancer outnumber all other cases, everyone with any persistent indigestion (however slight) should consult his or her physician and undergo any tests prescribed, including X-ray.

The fact that cases of cancer of the stomach outnumber all other cancer cases of the body is not also the fact that more than half the cases of stomach cancer consult their physician when it is too late to obtain a cure, should cause an early visit to the family physician should there be: (a) Any feeling of discomfort in the region of the stomach, which discomfort passes away at night; (b) belching and distention; (c) loss of appetite, especially for meat; (d) tired feeling and loss of weight.

Any two or more of these symptoms at the cancer points to cancer unless proved otherwise.

A HAVE-NOT NATION

Secretary of State Marshall's request for $16,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000 worth of U. S. goods to rehabilitate Europe, in addition to the many billions worth of such goods already sunk there, has focused the spotlight on America's own diminishing resources.

About 100 years ago, as the agricultural age began to give way to the industrial age, prospects started unloading stores of wealth in America. Mines, copper strikes and discoveries of vast deposits of lead and almost every other mineral we thought we would ever want.

Somewhere found a whole mountain of almost pure iron in the Mesabi Range near the Great Lakes. Timber was so magnificent that explorers wrote fables about it and so plentiful that settlers burned it off to get it out of their way. Oil seeped out of the earth in Pennsylvania and an enterprising Yankee named Rockefeller became an international oil lamp salesman and a developer of spouting wells of oil.

Henry Ford built a production line so that there might be "an automobile on every farm." Industrial cities threw their blazing lights against many a night horizon.

American oil, powder and steel, backed by American know-how won the two mightiest military conflicts in history.

About that time, with half the civilized world in smoking ruins and need of rebuilding some of the things that we had shot away the best of our resources.

A second look confirms the announcement. In one life time we have run through, shot away and given away much of the riches which nature labored for millions of years to put together on us.

Before the war," wrote the editor of the United States News in his October 31, issue, "several minerals were considered critical because their reserves were small. There are 50 in that class now."

"The outside world, Europe in particular, is to draw heavily on the United States through the Marshall Plan. If foreign aid takes only five per cent of U. S. output, that will represent a vast amount of coal, iron ore, oil and other natural wealth."

Europe's needs are, in fact, primarily for these basic commodities. As mentioned in the preceding article in this paper, the giant power machines which for years have been scooping up almost pure iron out of the fabulous Mesabi open pit deposits, now are running into second grade iron ore.

"All high grade iron ore known to be in the U. S.," estimated the United States News, "may be used up within 76 years."

Already numerous plants are being erected at great cost to work taconite, an iron-bearing rock which costs a third more machinery and manpower to process.

Of oil we have not enough for our own needs; we are warned to expect shortages by early 1948. This in time of peace! What will we do for oil and iron if forced to fight a third world war?

If we use up our best ores in the next half or three-quarters of a century—as we doubtless will—while backward Russia is able to build only a second-rate industry, we will be a have-not nation, with the enormous heartland of Russia still rich in resources.

Let's send the hungry people of Europe whatever food we can spare but limit other aid to a billion or so in mining and steel and transportation equipment, mostly for the Ruhr region which in turn can eventually supply Europe's reconstruction needs.

high point of 36 years of military service.

The son of a school teacher and himself a former West Point mathematics instructor, Bradley is fitted by temperament and inclination for the task of leading a modernized American Army, as commander at the Infantry training center at Fort Benning, he personally trained thousands of the young Doughboy leaders who served under him in Africa and Europe.

Bradley is modest, friendly and deceptively mild. He has a cool intelligence and a forthright simplicity of character confounding to devious men who make the mistake of thinking he can be imposed upon or fooled. His mind wide open to new ideas and new weapons—when they work. If the American Army ever has to fight a Third World War under Bradley, it won't ride to battle in outdated tanks.

Lifelines

C. R. DOUGLAS

Our recent plea for a wind-resisting hat brought to mind the derby which is a rare item today this side of our vanishing vaudeville circuit and movie comics.

Thoughts of the derby led to recollection of the late Billy Urell of Stony Hollow and Frank Leon Smith, magazine and movie writer, who more than a decade ago was a frequent visitor at the Urell tavern.

Frank, the story goes, would enter the tavern and find Billy sporting a derby during his daily chores about the place, and, as we heard it, never missed the opportunity to flatten the lid. Then he would roar Billy a $20 bill to cover damages. This went on, we were told, throughout a long friendship between the writer and the tavern owner because each had a sense of humor as big as the world.

This peculiar affection of the writer for the derby, it seems, showed up years later in his "McQuillan" series for the Saturday Evening Post.

McQuillan, in the stories, was a husky, bedeviled Irishman who operated a junk yard for an attractive widow in Canarsie. He was an ingenious sort of guy and human enough to fall like a ton of iron for his female boss.

Love didn't go too smoothly in the atmosphere of the junk yard, however, and McQuillan, in one of the stories, discovered that he had a rival of the sleek, Broadway variety.

McQuillan had a man's size resentment for the intervening attentions of his rival for the widow and he decided to do something drastic about it.

The rival operated a roadside night club somewhere near Canarsie and one night when he and the widow were there watching the floor show, they must have thought the end of the world was approaching.

It was nothing more, however, than McQuillan and a crew of workmen outside, giving the place a hoist with huge building jacks. This effort, it seems, ultimately turned the widow's attention back to the capable McQuillan and her junk yard for the happy ending.

This is the type of incredible incident which Frank Leon Smith handles expertly and we have never known one to be dull. Can you wonder, never dull when Frank and Billy were both at the tavern, because Billy had his own memorable way with anecdote, fact and legend.

We saw Frank several weeks ago for the first time in nearly ten years, at Woodstock, and we forgot to ask him if he had a good whack at a derby recently. He is not a derby man himself, and we remember now that when we saw him for the second time at Urell's he was wearing the long, peaked cap of a railroad engineer and a blue denim jacket. That was his fishing outfit.

He showed us then the trick of the shrinking dollar. It was a trick then, anyway, but as we see it today they are all pre-shrunk wherever one looks.

Man Retains His Castle
 Despite Divorce by Wife

Lausanne, Switzerland (U. S. A.)—A man cannot be forced out of his dwelling just because he loses his wife, the supreme court has held. The ruling was in the case of a man who married in 1944 and was given a permit to rent an apartment in Lausanne. He and his wife divorced. Then came a housing shortage. The housing authority of Lausanne tried to oust the divorced man on the grounds that an unmarried man should not occupy an entire apartment.

The tenant appealed to the supreme court, which upheld him.

out a man of erratic brilliance and send him elsewhere," he told me once, "if he can't fit himself into your headquarters and make himself part of the team."

Today in Washington

Few Persons Know Why House-Building Costs Are Higher Than Before War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 24—Everybody has known that it costs much more to build a house today than ever before, yet few people have known why. Here are some of the reasons, as derived from a national survey of about 60 cities:

A bricklayer before the war used to lay 1,000 bricks a day, for which he averaged $13.68 per day in wages. A bricklayer now lays 540 bricks per day, for which he receives $18.96.

Wages in every one of the building trades have risen considerably and yet the setlers are producing 43 per cent less work. Carpenters 43 per cent less, plumbers 44 per cent less, lathers 43 per cent less, electricians 41 per cent less, plasterers 36 per cent less, cement finishers 36 per cent less, painters 40 per cent less per man than before the war.

The average over-all drop in output per man in the building trades is 38 per cent. The wages per hour in the building trades nevertheless are 76 per cent higher than in 1940.

How any nation can beat inflation or keep solvent and prevent an economic collapse and depression by insisting on more-pay-for-more-work is one of the questions which goes unanswered. Mostly it is because the facts have been suppressed.

Political government doesn't like to disclose these facts because some of the blame for encouraging more-pay-for-less-work would be located in the policies and speeches of President Truman.

Labor unions do not like to disclose these facts because they would prefer to shift the line of attack to the price front. They prefer to spread the impression that prices are high because profits are abnormal. It is significant that unions will not give out detailed figures on the output per man or the reasons for the drop.

Such figures as are available come from contractors who have made a survey of results as tabulated from 60 cities.

If employers get together to restrict output they would run afoul of the anti-trust laws governing monopoly and restrain less trade but labor unions are exempted from prosecution for maintaining monopolies. The Congress of the United States thus far has been intimidated by the labor-union bosses and so have many of the city governments where the rackets in city ordinances and regulations and inspection systems are open secrets. The public hasn't been awakened to the real story of why veterans who fought for their freedoms and for fair play in a democratic system come home to find it almost impossible to build a house at low cost because there is a dictatorship by the few against the many.

President Truman has made many recommendations about price control and credit control but he hasn't ventured to get at the real reason for the high costs of housing—as plainly illegal and within the province of government to cure as are the activities of any monopolists now being attacked by the Department of Justice.

About all the Truman administration has done is to erect a smoke screen for prosecuting real estate men for maintaining the same rate of commission on sales that they charged before the war—an insignificant factor in building costs. Collusion by union bosses in slowing down production while demanding higher wages seems to have been overlooked entirely by the administration and incidentally by the Republican statisticians who apparently don't know a good issue when one stares them in the face.

Prices are up 93 per cent on an average for building materials since 1940 and the cost of residential building is about 125 per cent higher than pre-war. Anybody can figure out why. If output per man is less, costs go up. In brick-laying, for instance, the hourly wages are up 72 per cent above 1940, the output has dropped about 60 per cent per man hours and it all figures up to an increase of 219 per cent in wage costs.

No country ever was headed more plainly for economic disaster than the United States unless an aroused public opinion takes a look at the facts about the drop in output and does something about it. Since the public is busy trying to struggle with these slowdowns in building and high prices, maybe congress, as a representative body, will take up the matter. The biggest shortage America is a "work shortage" brought about by a conspiracy to limit or restrict production. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Boss has been in Kingston Hospital since receiving painful injuries in an automobile accident on Friday, November 14.

Eight Persons Hurt
In October, Police
Report Discloses

Eight persons were slightly injured in six automobile accidents in Kingston during the month of October, according to the monthly report compiled by acting Chief of Police Raymond Van Buren and submitted to the Board of Police Commissioners Friday.

Four of the six accidents involved two or more motor vehicles and accounted for six of the injured persons. The other two accidents were between a motor vehicle and pedestrian, and accounted for two injured, according to the report.

Also during the month of October, 45 arrests were made in the city, according to Captain Van Buren's report. Of these, 15 were for public intoxication, eight for assault in the third degree, six each for disorderly conduct and violations of the motor vehicle and traffic law, and three each for petit larceny and violations of the city traffic code.

Other arrests included two on charges of being absent without leave from the U. S. Army and one each for disorderly person law and violation of the parking meter ordinance.

Of the total arrests made, 14 received suspended sentences, 10 forfeited bail, seven were committed to jail, five cases are still pending. Also three of the violators were fined, three were remanded for grand jury, two were discharged, and one case was withdrawn.

STUCK TO HIS STORY

(Bennett Cef, in Saturday Review of Literature)

Ted Lawson, co-author of "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," told me a fine story about Alex de Seversky, who, like Lawson, lost a leg as a flier in wartime. Seversky one day was trying to cheer a disconsolate aviator in a similar predicament.

"The loss of a leg," he said with conviction, "is really not so great a calamity. Look at me. I dance, I fly, I drive a car, I go everywhere. Women were more interested in me the moment they discovered I had one artificial leg. And another thing: if you get hit on a wooden leg, it doesn't hurt a bit! Here, try it."

The soldier took his cane and cracked it across Seversky's leg with terrific force.

"You see," laughed Seversky: "if you hit an ordinary man like that, he'd be in bed for five days! Cheer up, old man."

He waved airily, and left the ward. In the corridor, he collapsed. The wounded aviator, of course, had hit him on the real leg.

"Darling," he implored her, "will you marry me? If you refuse I shall die."

She refused.

He died—sixty years later!

Scandal grows with the telling. Each person who repeats it adds something to make it sound more shocking.

The bridegroom, who was in a nervous condition, appealed to the clergyman in a loud whisper, at the close of the ceremony:

"Is it kissatory to cuss the bride?"

"Not yet, but soon."

Mother—What are you looking for?

Son—Nothing.

Mother—You'll find it in the box where the candy used to be.

One of the generals of history once remarked that the brave man was not he who never felt fear.

Royal Couple Go To Church, Then Return to Estate

Romsey, England, Nov. 24 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth and her prince charming retired again into the privacy of their honeymoon retreat at beautiful Broadlands today after emerging briefly into the limelight yesterday to attend Sunday services in thousand-year-old Romsey Abbey.

A crowd of country folk, clad in their Sunday best, cheered the royal couple as they entered the ancient abbey and again as they left.

The happy princess wore her mist-blue going away suit for her first public appearance since her wedding last Thursday while Prince Philip abandoned his customary navy uniform for a dark civilian suit and a blue polka-dot tie.

They were welcomed at the door of the abbey by the Rev. Canon W. E. Corban, the vicar, but otherwise there was no special note taken of their attendance at the services, which were conducted just as they might have been on any other Sunday.

The royal honeymooners occupied cane bottomed chairs in the first row in the nave of preference to sitting in the more conspicuous rows of Prince Philip's uncle, Earl Mountbatten, at whose estate they are residing.

Philip occupied the aisle seat, then came Princess Elizabeth and then an empty chair. The next seat was occupied by a uniformed officer and the rest of the row was vacant.

Approximately 1,500 persons attended the services, after which the couple returned immediately to Broadlands where they met press photographers and posed for the first formal pictures since they left London.

Williamson Given New Car for Work By Thomas Co.

Outstanding recognition for work done by an Ulster county man has come to a Clontaride resident.

Don Williamson, seven-county representative for the I. P. Thomas & Son Co., fertilizer manufacturers, has been awarded a 1947 Buick Road Master by the company "for doing the best all around job" for the concern during the four years ending July 1 of this year.

Salesmanship, distribution and storage were among the qualifying points which won Williamson's car.

Kerhonkson Man Held in Jail On Assault Charge

Karl K. Huber, 50, of Kerhonkson was held for the grand jury when arraigned before Peace Justice Percy Barley Saturday on a second degree assault charge.

Huber was booked at the county jail at 10:20 p. m. following the arraignment and his arrest by Deputy Sheriff's Harry Keator and Delbert Sapp on complaint of Huber's wife, Ella Mae, who, the officers said, charges that her husband used a knife in assaulting her.

President Urges Food Drive Continue

Captain A. S. Hickey, U.S.N., retired, who is chairman of the local Citizens Food Committee, received a telegram on Saturday notifying him that Charles Luckman will deliver a message Tuesday, November 25 from 2:30 to 2:45 p. m. over the Columbia Broadcasting System. The message will be for the state and local committees.

The telegram included the following message from President Truman:

"This food conservation drive must continue. It must in fact be intensified if we are to save the utmost possible amount of grain that can be spared for the needs of hungry people overseas."

I call on the American people, the state and local committees and all organizations and groups to continue their vigorous efforts in carrying out this program.

Hurley Men Attend Communion Rites

The Rev. Gerret Wüllschlegel, pastor of the New Paltz Reformed Church, told members of the Hurley Men's Club at their annual communion breakfast Sunday that the link between true religion and going to church is a matter of proper spiritual balance.

The address, which was given in the Sunday School room of the Hurley Reformed Church, offered a distinctly human approach to the question, "Why should I go to church?" and was heard by approximately 100 men of the community.

Breakfast was served by members of the Women's Service Committee.

Prior to the breakfast a communion service was held in the church. The Rev. Robert G. Dickson, pastor, presided. In addition to the Rev. Mr. Dickson, committee members assisting in the arrangements were Henry Battenfeld and Otis Tracy.

Local Pastor Receives Degree

Winder Receives Degree at Service

Baptist Clergyman Gets Webster Honor

The Rev. Edward V. Winder, pastor of the First Baptist Church, received the doctor of divinity degree during ceremonies Sunday morning at the local church.

Several clergymen participated in the program including the Rev. Dr. Henry Mangum, D.D., Ph.D., executive vice-president of Webster-Trinity University, Chicago, Ill., who conferred the degree. Others taking part were the Rev. Justin D. Field of Kingston, the Rev. Dr. H. G. Young, Ph.D., pastor of the First Baptist Church of Lock Haven, Pa., who also received a degree; and the Rev. Dr. Osterhout Phillips, pastor of the Ponckhockie Congregational Church, Kingston.

Two communications, one by the Rev. Or. Mangum, and the other signed by several clergymen were read. One, addressed to the board of trustees, Trinity University, Chicago, Ill., was signed by the Rev. Dr. William Ward Ayer, D.D., M. C. Patterson, D.D., Gordon C. Davis, D.D., M. L. Lowe, D.D., George A. Downs, D.D., Howard G. Young, Th.D., Herbert I. Bloom, Ph.D., and Osterhout Phillips, D.D.

The Rev. Mr. Winder, who was ordained September 16, 1927, also has served in Leltoy, Pa., Rome, Utica, Lowell, Mass. and Herkimer besides his local pastorate.

IT'S AN OLD STORY — TOO OLD

Before you get excited over that sign advertising a turkey dinner for two bits, you should know that the picture dates back to the good old days B. I.—Before Inflation. The photo was taken at a Miami, Fla., cafe in 1937 as a Thanksgiving Day gag shot. The gag then was the picketing turkey. Today it's the price of the dinner that's a gag—and a sour one, too!

Peters Case Is Postponed

The case against John Russell Peters, Saugerties, which was scheduled for hearing before City Judge Matthew V. Cahill today, has been postponed until some time in December, the clerk of the city court announced this morning. Peters is charged with driving while intoxicated and with third degree assault with an automobile. He was arrested following the accident in which Chief of Police Ernest A. Boss was injured on Friday, November 14. Bail of $500 will be continued.

4-H CLUB NEWS

The following persons took part in the radio program held November 15 with the assistance of Miss Brundage: the Misses Elsie Maltz, Marian Lapp, Ethel May Mackay, Mary Ann Bowman.

The next meeting of the unit will be held Friday at the home of Mrs. J. Connor.

Dr. Speer Dies

Philadelphia, Nov. 24 (AP)—Dr. Robert Elliott Speer, 80, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. for 46 years, died last night in Bryn Mawr Hospital. Dr. Speer, a native of Huntingdon, Pa., was the first layman ever elected moderator of the general assembly, the church's highest office. His election in 1927 was unanimous. He is survived by his wife, the former Emma Dell Bailey of Harrisburg, Pa., and three children, Margaret Speer, headmaster of the Shipley School, Bryn Mawr; William Speer, director of admissions at Rutgers University and Mrs. Robert F. Barbour of Bristol, England.

Sheriff's Office Seeks Identity of Stolen Car Driver

An investigation was still in progress today by the Sheriff's office to determine the driver of a stolen auto which knocked over two gasoline pumps on the Ralph Bradford property at Eddyville shortly after 1 a. m. Sunday.

Bradford reported the damage to the gasoline pumps at 1:05 a. m., and Deputy Sheriffs Joseph Haver and Ray Winne were on their way to investigate when the sheriff's office was notified by Barney Emberson of St. Remy that his car had been stolen from in front of the Pleasure Yacht at Eddyville.

Bradford, according to the officers, had looked out of the window shortly after hearing the crash in front of his house, but said he saw no one leave the car. The driver, the officers said, apparently left the scene immediately after the crash.

The officers found the auto backed up on the island between the two pumps. It had apparently struck one, which fell against the other, and knocked it over. The car was damaged considerably.

Small Savings, Day by Day, Add Up to Save Wheat

By now, every homemaker knows that a drought burned up Western Europe's wheat last summer. Unless we send some of our own wheat, the people of Europe face a winter of hunger.

Homemakers want to help, but how? They can help in a lot of ways. By serving less bread, for instance. Every time you do without an extra slice of bread, you save four-fifths of an ounce of wheat. Suppose every one in the nation ate one slice less every day, that simple saving would add up to 7 million loaves for the hungry of Western Europe. This spurs an extra 100 calories a day for 100 million people. It's hard to realize that so little saving can amount to so much.

How else can homemakers save bread?

Here are some suggestions from home economists of the Consumer Service Section, Citizens Food Committee:

1. Store unused fresh bread, wrapped in the refrigerator. It will keep fresh indefinitely, and will not mold.

2. Use each slice and crust. Avoid waste by converting all dry bread and rolls into ready-to-use crumbs. Use in casseroles, soups, bread puddings, cheese fondue, scalloped dishes, stuffings. (7)

3. Convenient also for extending meat loaves and hamburgers. 4. Easy crumbs: Simplest way to prepare crumbs is to dry out left-over bread in warming oven or slow oven. When crisp, put through food chopper, or break up and roll fine with rolling pin. Sift if preferred.

Store prepared crumbs in a tightly covered jar in dry, cool place. Simple, isn't it? A lot of people have never taken the trouble before. Surprising how the use of crumbs in such main dishes as fondue or hamburgers adds substance, stretches servings.

Holiday Planning
It's high time to think about saving every bit of bread and left-over rolls for stuffing that Christmas bird. Follow the method just outlined for drying out bread, with this warning: Never, never let it brown. Store as directed, either in slices or crumbs, until time to make that savory stuffing. How else can homemakers help?

Another phase of the "save-wheat" program is to buy less and less baking of foods that require a lot of flour. For the duration of the grain emergency, switch from cookies, pastry and cakes to fruit desserts. Serve dried or fresh fruits, now so generously in market. Now is the time for all good winter pears, for fine-flavored apples—baked, stewed or served in a variety of puddings.

Time, too, for such delicious and nutritious combinations as prunes and apricots, stewed together, with orange or lemon slices. Plain puddings take on glamour with a colorful sauce from dried apricots, stewed and sweetened.

Wheat is one of the cheapest, most easily shipped, most nourishing of foods. Each small daily saving helps to feed the hungry of Europe in this "Winter of decision."

Certificates Filed

George's Farm and Dairy Service, Inc., has recently been incorporated and a copy of the corporation papers have been filed with the county clerk. The corporation is formed to "engage in the production of quality control in dairies" and to take samples and make tests and to certify and warrant purity or analyze and report on milk, water, blood or liquids of any nature and foods and materials that may be processed or manufactured from them" and to "suggest changes and improvements of their product." The corporation is also authorized to buy, sell and deal in machinery. Capital stock is $30,000, consisting of 300 shares at $100 par value. The principal office is located at Kerhonkson and the number of directors are three. Those named to serve until the first annual election are George M. Stockin, William H. Stockin and Harold B. Rich, all of Kerhonkson.

Some Thanksgiving Dinner Tips

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
N.E.A. Staff Writer

Thanksgiving dinner is purely American. But there's no reason why we can't take a few hints from a noted New York restaurateur who was born in Italy.

Frank Bonacchini, once a headwaiter on the Orient Express (Paris to Constantinople), now host at Cog Rouge in New York, is one of the leading men in his profession. He thinks that our big feast should, of course, be planned along traditional lines. But with so much need for our help in Europe, with food costs so high here, he believes we should plan a regal meal that omits the usual logginess and indigestion.

This is Bonacchini's suggestion: Mellow cup, plain consommé, roast, baby turkey (without stuffing or gravy), braised celery, candied sweet potatoes, watercress and beet salad, French dressing, pumpkin pie, coffee.

From his files at the Cog Rouge he selects a few recipes for other lighter Thanksgiving menus.

Maroon Salad

Two bunches cooked beets, lemon juice, celery, 2 canned pimientos or 1 fresh red pepper. Slice the beets, slice several stalks of celery into 2-inch strips, and chop the pepper or cube pimientos. Combine all of these ingredients, add lemon juice, to taste (about 3 teaspoons) and serve as a side dish.

Prune Cream Mousse

One-half cup unsweetened prune juice, 1 cup stewed prune pulp, 1/2 cup crushed graham cracker crumbs, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup whipped cream, 2 teaspoons finely chopped nuts.

Boil the prune juice and sugar together for 3 minutes. Mix together thoroughly the pulp and half of the cracker crumbs. Add the juice after it has cooled. Fold in the whipped cream. Sprinkle the remaining crumbs in the bottom of the freezing tray, then pour in the prune mixture. Top with nuts and allow to freeze undisturbed for four or more hours.

TOMORROW'S MENU

Breakfast: Stewed prunes, oatmeal, rye toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Turkey and vegetable soup, crackers, melted cheese on toast, sliced oranges and bananas, tea, milk.

DINNER: Sliced cold turkey, tomato relish, scalloped potatoes, buttered kale, raw carrot sticks, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, left-over plum pudding, lemon sauce, coffee, milk.

High Schools to Assist
Students in Driving Tests

Providence, R. I. (AP)—Rhode Island schools are going in for practical instructions of high school pupils in driving. The automobile club of Rhode Island, which boasts the program, boasts that none of the 1,000 pupils who have had high school driving instruction have been held responsible for an accident in the state.

Dual control cars are used in the classic car and arrangements are such that the school must devote at least 10 hours every week to behind-the-wheel instruction to be eligible for use of the machines. The automobile club, the school system and auto manufacturers cooperate in the program.

New Soviet Homes

Moscow (AP)—In the Russian Republic alone, one of the sixteen republics making up the Soviet Union, it has been decided to set up twenty factories for manufacture of prefabricated houses, according to the railway newspaper Pravda. Many of the houses which will be produced there will go to railway workers, the paper added.

Thanksgiving 1947

Most of you have ordered your Thanksgiving bird and planned your Thanksgiving menu. This year it is especially important for all of us to seek the best values, and not waste a single bite of food. So we suggest that you buy a big turkey for a better value and more delicious turkey meat. Don't worry about what you are going to do with your left-over turkey—it can use every shred of it in tempting, tasty, appetizing dishes. Here's how:

IN A CASSEROLE with spaghetti, mushrooms, and a cream sauce base. Top with grated cheese.

IN A TURKEY PIE. Add sliced vegetables and medium cream sauce or mushroom soup. Top with pastry or biscuits. Cheese or parsley biscuits give added flavor.

IN POTATO-TOPPED PIE. Combine with green peppers and chicken gravy. Top with fluffy mashed white or sweet potatoes.

IN TURKEY A LA KING. Serve in soup cups or party shells.

IN SOUP. Use with barley, rice or vegetables.

IN TURKEY CROQUETTES. Serve with mellow cheese sauce.

TURKEY HASH FOR LUNCH—with a tomato green salad and hot clear soup.

IN A TURKEY BISCUIT ROLL, topped with cheese sauce or creamed eggs. Roll out biscuit dough. Cover with chopped turkey mixed with gravy, minced parsley and chopped celery. Roll up like a jelly roll. Cut into pin-wheel slices and bake in a hot oven until a golden brown. Serve hot with sauce.

IN TURKEY SALAD. Add diced apples, green peas, or grapefruit sections for a different flavor. Or toss turkey with green salad.

HOT TURKEY SANDWICHES for lunch or supper.

TURKEY STUFFED PEPPERS OR TOMATOES.

CREAMED TURKEY filling the center of a rice or noodle ring, or topping crisp waffles.

Mendelssohn Club Hears Report at Dinner Meeting

The annual banquet and business meeting of the Mendelssohn Club of Kingston was held Thursday evening at Schoontag's Hotel. A large attendance of both active and associate members was augmented by guests from Schenectady, Newburgh, and Kingston. Robert Williams, who conducted the club through its season last year, will be their conductor again this season.

The Pilgrims' life was rugged, tough. Yet they were never fnt-bewmiers! So let's give thanks! we have enough Good food and Grade 'A' coffee—Ehlers!

After the banquet, Mr. Williams spoke briefly to the men of his plans for the coming season, and of some of his experiences with men's choral groups.

The annual business meeting was then convened and an election of officers was held. The officers for the coming year are: William Hookey, president; Dr. Julian I. Gifford, vice president; William McBride, treasurer; John A. McCullough, secretary; Paul Barnum, librarian.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, the members were entertained by Edgar Coppola, baritone of Newburgh, who presented a group of songs, accompanied at the piano by Sam Scudder, the club accompanist. Fred Van Dusen also entertained and mystified the group with several of his special magic and sleight-of-hand tricks.

Meetings for the coming season will be held on Friday evenings, and the rehearsals will start in January for the annual spring concert.

Work of Cancer Field Army Is Luncheon Topic

Mrs. Kenneth Duncan, Ulster county commander of the American Cancer Society field army, was hostess on November 15th at a luncheon at The Old Fort in New Paltz honoring Mrs. Harry Parker Van Wagenen, state commander of the field army and Mrs. Matthew Hasbrouck, director of public relations of the New York State Division of the American Cancer Society.

Other workers of the society present were: Mrs. Arthur Ames, deputy county commander; Mrs. Walter Hasbrouck, New Paltz captain; Mrs. Jesse McHugh, Shawangunk captain; Mrs. Wesley O'Brien, Olive and Hurley captain; Mrs. William Litchford, Ellenville and town of Wawarsing captain; Mrs. Edward Quimby, town of Marlborough captain; Mrs. James Betts, Kingston city commander; Mrs. Maurice Davenport, Marlborough captain; Mrs. Golden Lewis, Rosendale captain; and Mrs. Walter M. A Thanksgiving program consisting of an original play, recitations and songs, was given by school children of School 13 at the School Association meeting last Wednesday evening. Following the program the business meeting was called to order by Mrs. Lawrence Lyons, president. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Frank Dailey and Mrs. LeRoy Myers for assistance in the membership campaign. Amasa Smith, member of the school board, thanked the association for the note of appreciation concerning the improvements to the school building. Mrs. Fred Spalt, chairman of the highway safety committee, reported that she had represented the association at a town meeting held for the general discussion of that topic. Mrs. Howard Sismilich, chairman of the finance committee, reported that $155.20 had been raised for the association. A letter of thanks from Cub Pack 1, expressing thanks to the association for acting as its sponsor, was read. It was decided to dispense with the individual Christmas gifts for the school children and instead to present the school with an electric phonograph. The committee to purchase the article includes Carlton Taylor, principal; Amasa Smith and Mrs. Florence Ellsworth. The book award went to Room 1. A social hour followed the meeting and refreshments were served.

The annual local institute and roll call meeting of the Ulster Park-Port Ewen W.C.T.U. was held last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Charles Niece in Port Ewen. The morning session was devoted to business and information concerning the different branches of work taken up by the local union. A covered dish luncheon was served at noon. The afternoon program was in charge of Mrs. Clarence Wells with the subject on "Safeguarding the Nation."

Guest speakers were the Rev. Harry Christiansa and the Rev. Fred W. Stine who gave interesting talks on the subjects assigned them. The Rev. Mr. Stine spoke of "Narcotics and Their Effect on Mankind." The Rev. Mr. Christiansa's theme was "Thanksgiving."

After roll call, several interesting papers were read. Excerpts from an address by Esther H. Lingenfelter which was given at the state W.C.T.U. convention in Elmira, were read. One was the statement of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is the only anti-liquor organization among women. It is the only interdenominational women's organization. It is believed by many to be the best organized women's group in the world. Its literature is scientific, up-to-date and graded for every age group. Her various departments, like the streams of a great river, contribute to the downfall of the liquor traffic and provide opportunities for every Christian woman to use her talents for that which is of enduring value and for the abolishment of that which destroys the body, the mind and the soul of God's children. The next meeting will be held December 17 at the home of Mrs. John Lynn. The annual Christmas party will take place at that session.

All members of Esopus Legion Post 1298 are asked to meet Tuesday at 2:15 o'clock in the vicinity of School 13, Port Ewen.

Brucella Vaccine Is Used To Stop Bang's Disease

East Lansing, Mich. (AP)—A new vaccine for cattle developed by Dr. I. Forest Huddleson, Michigan State College bacteriologist, shows good promise of preventing the spread of Bang's disease in cattle herds, and thus lessening the danger of undulant fever in humans. The brucella vaccine will be used in widespread tests on Michigan dairy herds. In experiments on private herds during the last two years the vaccine limited the spread of the costly Bang's disease to four per cent of the susceptible animals. Undulant fever in humans is spread by contact with infectious material from animals.

Combine Fish and Spaghetti

By GAYNOR MADDON
NEA Staff Writer

For meatless days and for lower food costs, combine fish with macaroni or spaghetti. In his latest book, "Macaroni Manual," Crosby Gale gives 200 recipes which include macaroni, noodles and spaghetti and 50 recipes for sauces to use with them. Here are two fish combinations you'll welcome.

Creamed Tuna in Spaghetti Ring

(Serves 6)
Eight ounces spaghetti, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups milk, paprika, salt and pepper to taste, 1 cup cooked green peas, 1 can tuna fish, flaked, parsley sprigs, tomato wedges.

Cook the spaghetti in rapidly boiling salted water until tender. Drain and rinse. Remove the bones from the salmon and flake the fish. Butter a baking dish, cover the bottom with a layer of spaghetti, then half of the salmon, and top this with half of the cooked celery and a little salt and pepper. Repeat again, making the top layer spaghetti. Then pour the pint of cream over all and sprinkle top with the grated cheese. Bake for 20 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.).

Baked Spaghetti With Salmon

(Serves 6)
Eight ounces thin spaghetti, 1 large can salmon, 1 cup cooked celery, salt and pepper, 1 pint cream, 1/2 cup grated cheese.

Cook the spaghetti in rapidly boiling salted water until tender. Drain and rinse. Remove the bones from the salmon and flake the fish. Butter a baking dish, cover the bottom with a layer of spaghetti, then half of the salmon, and top this with half of the cooked celery and a little salt and pepper. Repeat again, making the top layer spaghetti. Then pour the pint of cream over all and sprinkle top with the grated cheese. Bake for 20 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.).

MEATLESS TUESDAY

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, bread crumb griddle cakes, butter or fortified margarine, syrup, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Creamed hard-cooked eggs on toast (stale bread), cole slaw, apples, tea, milk.

DINNER: Tomato juice, baked spaghetti with salmon, canned peas, raw carrot sticks, fresh fruit compote, oatmeal cookies, coffee, milk.

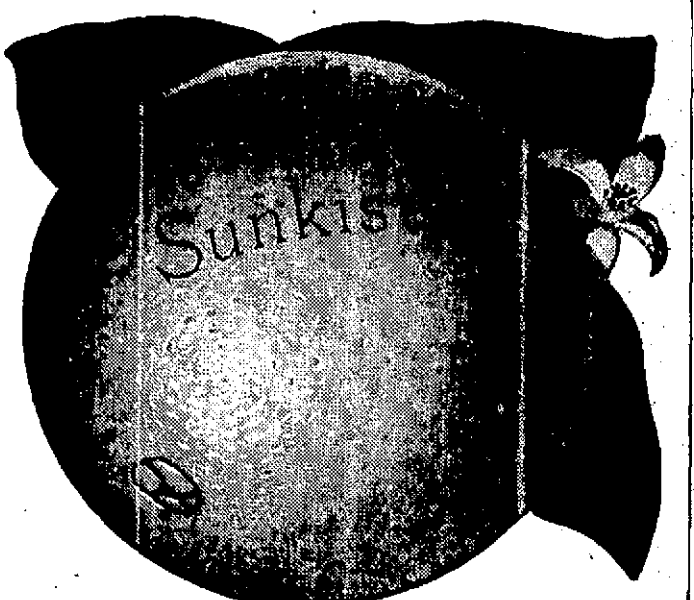

37 of 500 U. S. Graves Found in Poland

Warsaw, UP — An American military mission is in Poland seeking the burial place of about 500 American airmen and prisoners of war who died on Polish soil.

The task of finding, registering and eventually removing American dead from Poland to the United States is being directed by Lt. Col. Hawthorne Davis, of the American graves registration section, Karlsruhe, Germany. Davis reports that the mission has found in two months the graves of 37, mostly airmen shot down by the Germans during bombing missions. He estimated the mission's work would require six months.

'Milk Factory'

Hong Kong, AP — A raid by members of the health department disclosed a source of danger to the public health in a make-shift factory for the illegal manufacture of reconstituted milk. Health Inspector C. Strange said the milk was manufactured from powdered milk and condensed milk mixed with ordinary tap water and stirred in a bucket. A bacteriologist's report showed innumerable organisms in the milk.

BIG NAVEL ORANGES

ARE HERE AGAIN!

YOUR CHOICE OF OTHER SIZES, TOO

Big, medium, small — you have a wide choice of sizes in this new California navel orange crop, and they're real beauties!

Russia to Open New Coal Fields

Moscow, AP — Four coal fields have been surveyed this year in the area discovered by Soviet geologists during the war in the Kuznetsk Basin.

Chief Engineer Molchanov of the Kuzbas Coal Prospecting Organization, who has been supervising the exploratory work, said the area would probably rank among the most important in this rich basin.

The fields are located in the Taiga 60 kilometers from the city of Stalinsk between the Tom and Usa rivers in the foothills of the Kuznetsk Ala-Tau Mountains. The mountainous terrain enables the deposits to be tapped through galleries driven into the hillsides, eliminating the need of shaft-sinking.

Shanghai Is City Loaded With Taxes

Shanghai, Nov. 24 (AP) — Don't breathe it to your Congressman, but they have figured out a lot of brand new taxes in Shanghai.

When it comes to taxes, Shanghai should be able to teach any city anywhere how to put a taxpayer through the wringer and extract a maximum of the juices which keep municipal governments happy.

As one Shanghai citizen laments: "They don't always call it a tax, but it smells as bad. We have all the internationally known varieties of taxation — and then some."

There is a "fire tax." It has nothing to do with the fire in your stove, if you have a stove. It goes to support the fire brigade and is collected by a fireman at your door every payday. There is a "municipal reconstruction tax" which is added to your electricity bill.

There is a "winter relief surcharge" on the theater, and guess who pays it. Of course, you don't have to go to the shows.

There is another one of those pesky "municipal reconstruction taxes" on your automobile, in addition to the license fee — which also has been discovered in other civilized lands.

So your city charges amusement taxes? Shucks, so does Shanghai, along with business taxes, profit taxes, municipal and stamp taxes, "consumption" liquor taxes, "feast" taxes on food and an all-enveloping important tax on everything from gasoline to chewing gum.

And now, if you have any money left over, kindly turn it over to the policeman when he comes banging on the door to collect your "optional winter relief tax."

Seven Persons Die In Accidents; One Man Dies in Fall

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 24 (AP) — Seven persons were killed in accidents upstate over the week-end, including a man who apparently fell down a stairway in his home.

The body of George Barhydt, 66, Waterford, was found at the foot of the stairway Saturday by a grocery deliveryman. Saratoga County Coroner F. A. Mastriana said Barhydt's head was injured, evidently in falling.

Other fatalities, by communities:

Buffalo — Charles Walker, 60, collided with street car.

Albany — Frank C. Gregory, 54, thrown from rumble seat in crash of two automobiles.

Saratoga Springs — Henry R.

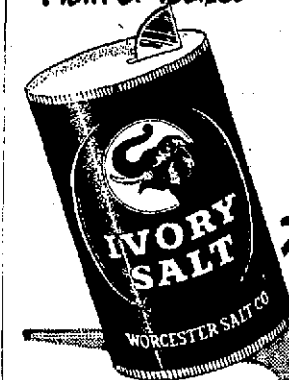

Harris, 71, struck by the Laurentian, Delaware and Hudson passenger train, at crossing.

Amsterdam — Jerry Eddy, 50, hit by automobile.

Cardiff — Floyd Shute, 43, struck by automobile.

Planned Parenthood Group Hears Field Representative Speak

Mrs. Paul Blanchard, field representative of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America, Inc., spoke to an enthusiastic group of sponsors, board members, campaign workers, and friends Thursday afternoon at the First Dutch Church House.

Mrs. Blanchard outlined briefly the growth of the organization. Seven states have made planned parenthood a part of their public health program, a goal toward which the Planned Parenthood Federation is working for every state. The United States Health Service recently declared that any state health department deciding to develop a planned parenthood program can expect the same consideration for such a program as for any other proposal for protection and advancement of health.

The field of human reproduction, Mrs. Blanchard said, "is the most neglected field of research. One of the major objectives of the Planned Parenthood Federation is to assist financially in this program. It has united with the National Research Council and National Committee of Maternal Health to undertake a comprehensive program of research, including the study of ways to reduce the huge toll of stillbirths, and infant mortality in the first year of life; and more effective treatment for childless couples. At present one out of three childless couples who come to us, is aided successfully." Mrs. Blanchard also reported that many United Nations delegates visit the national offices to study the program for information to improve maternal health conditions in their own, top populated countries.

Following the meeting, the group visited the center at 578 Broadway where Mrs. Harry Wood, Center Chairman, and Dr. Elizabeth Moore, medical advisor, explained the splendid work the local staff is doing, with particular emphasis on the fact that each patient is given a complete physical examination, often with the result that unsuspected pathologic conditions are discovered, which upon referral to the patient's own physician are corrected.

DeWitt-DuMond Wedding Takes Place At DuMond Home

Miss Ellen Lee DuMond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford C. DuMond, 111 Emerson street, was united in marriage to Frederick J. DeWitt, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. DeWitt, Sr., Hasbrouck street, Port Ewen, Saturday at 7 p. m. at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, performed the double ring ceremony.

The home was decorated with pink and white pompons among banks of greens and pink and white flowers.

Mr. DuMond gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a white brocaded satin gown made with off-shoulder neckline, net yoke, lace bertha, long pointed sleeves, fitted bodice, bustle back skirt and train. Her fingertip veil was attached to a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried white roses.

Miss Hazel Vente of Morgan Hill as maid of honor, wore a pink brocaded satin and net gown with matching hat and carried pink roses tied with pink and silver ribbon.

Robert G. DeWitt, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were John DeWitt, another brother, and Richard and Eugene DuMond, brothers of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony for 50 guests including those from Zionsville, Pa., New York city and East Rutherford, N. J. Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt left for a wedding trip to New York. She chose for traveling a fuchsia dress, grey topper, black accessories and corsage of white roses.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Kingston High School. Mrs. DeWitt is also a graduate of Western Union School in Washington, N. J., and is employed in the Ulster County Clerk's office. Mr. DeWitt is a student at Union University Albany College of Pharmacy. He served in the marine corps for four years and served overseas at Guadalcanal where he received awards of two purple hearts and four battle stars.

Place Changed For Entertainment Of Mothers' Group

The entertainment of music, songs, dances and sketches to be given Friday night under the auspices of the Mothers' Association of the Academy of St. Ursula will be held in St. Joseph's School Hall instead of St. Mary's Hall as originally announced. The program will begin at 8:30 p. m. and will feature Elissa Landi, noted actress, Roger Baer, the Rev. John M. Brown, Leda Raigorodsky, and students of the school.

Mrs. Thomas Crowley and the ticket committee announced today that all tickets marked at St. Mary's hall will be honored at St. Joseph's hall.

Hadassah Works For Annual Bazaar

Hadassah is preparing for its grandest and gayest bazaar, according to Mrs. Samuel Zimet, chairman. The bazaar will be held December 1, 2 and 3 at Agudas Achin Synagogue.

Surprise events and entertainment are promised. The public is invited to attend.

Irvin Ockslider Wed Theresa Mary Melonson Saturday Afternoon

The marriage of Miss Theresa Mary Melonson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Melonson of 19 Smith avenue, to Irvin Ockslider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Ockslider of Reading, Pa., was performed at a double ring ceremony Saturday at 1 p. m. The Rev. Francis J. Molony officiated at the rectory of St. Mary's Church.

The bride wore a gown designed with white satin fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves, round chignon yoke marked with seed pearl trimming, full chignon skirt and train. Her fingertip veil was attached to a pearl headress and she carried a white prayer book with pompons and streamers.

Her sister, Miss Veronica Melonson, maid of honor, wore a jonquil yellow headband style taffeta gown with headband of bronze pompons. She carried a colonial bouquet of bronze pompons. Miss Esther Ockslider, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid, wore a lilac taffeta gown with headband and colonial bouquet of yellow pompons.

Frank J. Rafferty was best man. Miles Ockslider, brother of the bridegroom, was usher.

A reception for 100 guests was held at the Roseland. Mr. and Mrs. Ockslider left for a wedding trip to Pennsylvania and Virginia. For her going-away ensemble, the bride selected a forest green wool suit with matching hat, brown topper, brown squirrel stole, brown accessories and a corsage of white pompons. They will live in Trenton, N. J.

Mrs. Ockslider is a graduate of Kingston High School and has been employed at the New York Telephone Co. Mr. Ockslider graduated of Reading High School served four years in the army in Africa and Europe. He is a senior at Rider College, Trenton, N. J.

Bracket Plants Add To Christmas Spirit
"Deck the halls with boughs of holly... 'Tis the season to be jolly."

How well we know the Christmas Carol and how eagerly we do bedeck our homes with wreaths and potted plants and flowers for the holiday season.

Give your home these long-remembered festive touches. Set up your Christmas tree in the living room, hang wreaths on the doors and put plants in your windows and on the mantel — wherever they will inspire good feeling and cheer.

For bracket plants that you attach to the windows, begonias are an outstanding winter variety. Gloire de Lorraine and Melior are Christmas-blooming and quite showy, although they don't stay apace as long as the everlasting variety.

Begonias require only a few hours of sunlight so the short winter days needn't worry you. Primrose, cyclamen, and African violet are also good choices for indoor winter plants.

Care of these plants, soil content, moisture needs, transplanting, repotting are included in our Reader Service booklet No. 29, Ferns, vines, terrariums, bulbs, plant pest prevention.

Send 25c (coin) for "Success With House Plants and Flowers" to The Kingston Daily Freeman Reader Service, 243 West 17th street, New York 11, N. Y. Print name, address with zone, booklet title and No. 29.

VERY BAD FORM

I have no way of knowing the character of the organization described in the following letter: "Is it incorrect for the president of our club to call on members for a report from the floor, addressing them as 'Mary Brown' and 'Sally Green'?" We all know each other and call each other by first names, but I wondered about it on certain occasions, this one in particular. Unless your club is so small as scarcely to deserve the name of "club," such informality would forfeit any prestige the club might have otherwise.

Signing Name

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a teacher of first and second-grade pupils, and always am puzzled about how to sign my name when writing them thank-you notes for presents or when signing get-well cards, etc. Will you please tell me the correct forms?

Answer: You sign your name "Mary Johnson." You may put "Miss" in parenthesis before your name if you think your pupils might call you "Mary." If you are married, you would write (Mrs. Johnson) in parenthesis underneath.

Write Informally

Dear Mrs. Post: The wedding is so small that the bride-to-be is writing personal notes of invitation. It is not possible to invite all good friends of ever all relations, so may she and possibly other members of her family write formal announcements by hand?

Answer: Short notes in second person or even messages written of visiting cards would be quite proper. But do not copy the formal third person wording which is suitable only for announcements that are engraved or printed.

Perhaps a Message

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct to send an anniversary present or card when one of the couple is deceased?

Answer: From a relative or very intimate friend a message of love and sympathy could be comforting, but under no circumstances should anyone send an ordinary anniversary gift or card.

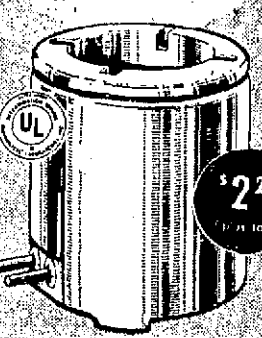

Do you know the "finger foods"? Mrs. Post has written a leaflet entitled, "Table Rules of Importance," which gives fundamental rules for eating hard-to-manage foods. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. The Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County has taken recognition of the eloquent tribute paid to its late president, Matthew F. Van Tassell, of New Salem, by County Judge John M. A tribute to its late president has also been paid by the members of the Association in a formal resolution prepared by the Committee on Resolutions, Thomas J. Murphy, vice-president; Henry G. That resolution states that the Association has "lost a good friend, a man of exemplary habits who has also devoted years of service to our cause by his good judgment and executive leadership and is worthy of all the praise we can bestow on him."

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL SAYS:

"Dealers Handling Kaiser-Frazer Cars Offer the Highest Trade-In Allowances"

"I hope that's true of our dealers everywhere!" says Joseph W. Frazer

I don't know that all of the more than 4,000 Kaiser-Frazer dealers are offering "highest trade-in allowances," as reported by the press, but I sincerely hope so. For personally, I feel that the used-car allowances being made by many automobile dealers today are far too low.

We have constantly urged our dealers to offer fair trade-in allowances, based on what cars will bring when they are re-sold, less the cost of handling and reconditioning.

Such fair practices, we tell our dealers, will build for them sound and continuing business.

Before you come to a decision on your next car, I hope you will find out what your Kaiser-Frazer dealer will allow you on your old car. Dealing with him, you'll not only receive fair treatment on both sales and service, but you'll get the most modern automobile built today.

In The Pocket

with CHARLIE TIANO

A Baseball Cycle Dies Prematurely:
The man at the other end of the wire identified himself as "Mr. Burns of the Dodger office." The Brooklyn Dodgers had decided to sell the Kingston franchise in the North Atlantic League. Was Mr. Rowland interested in buying? Mr. Rowland said no and thus ended a turbulent baseball cycle in the city—still a dawdling infant with never a real chance to assert itself and blossom into full manhood.

The action by the Board of Directors following the telephone conversation between Mr. Rowland and the mysterious "Mr. Burns" was purely anti-climatic. Briefly, the gentlemen who guided the destinies of the club during its short stay in Kingston did not desire to assume the responsibility of operating a working agreement or an outright franchise.

There was some talk about Kingston getting a better break with Class B representation. That comes under the heading of sheer speculation. The fact remains that when the chips were down, the cold cash wasn't. Leave us not to commiserate any longer.

The City of Kingston will hold a rather dubious niche in North Atlantic League annals. To its everlasting embarrassment, it will be remembered as a town that was handed a championship ball club in the first year of operation in organized ball . . . and didn't support it.

Mr. Rickey Speaks With Eloquence:
In the closing chapter on the trials and tribulations of OB in Kingston, Branch Rickey, Jr., had a few things to say. We'll pass them on to you without editorial comment. He wrote:

BROOKLYN NATIONAL LEAGUE BASEBALL CLUB
215 Montague Street
Brooklyn, N. Y.

November 18, 1947.

Mr. Charles J. Tiano, Sports Editor
Kingston Daily Freeman
Freeman Square
Kingston, New York

Dear Mr. Tiano:
I thought possibly I might write you and thank you for the help that you gave the Kingston Dodgers this past season. I have written Mr. Rowland expressing to him our real appreciation of his efforts in our behalf and asked him to express likewise our thanks to those various men and organizations that did so much to try to make our year a success.

I honestly wish that we could try operation for another year in Kingston but as I outlined to Mr. Rowland, our loss was approximately $25,000. And that is somewhat too high.

There are a number of people who have felt that we could come back to Kingston next year and make it pay, and I know that there are quite a number of people who feel that 90 per cent of the blame can be laid at the door of the Dodgers for their failure to have a better business manager, or perhaps a better manager, or do better promotional work, etc.

As a matter of fact, I read the account of the meeting held by Mr. Rowland and attended by a number of citizens of Kingston for the purpose of discussing the problems which confronted the Kingston club last year. It was in your paper under date of September 30. I thought some of the comments there might be worth an answer.

I am quoted at one place as saying that the Brooklyn organization had lost $30,000 in one town in four or five years but kept coming back. It is possible that I may have spoken in this vein carelessly, but such is not the fact. We did lose $30,000 but it was over a period of eight years, four of which were war years, and in the smaller communities without a lot of defense plants the loss was unusually heavy. That club was Olean, N. Y. That same club drew 77,000 last year, which together with the concessions and advertising, was sufficient to more than break even for the year.

Secondly, I likewise was quoted to say that a 30,000 attendance would be sufficient. I don't recall any such statement and certainly I know that no professional baseball club in the United States can expect to break even when their sole source of revenue is 30,000 at the gate. A $40,000 budget is not an extraordinary heavy budget for a Class D club just as a $55,000 to $60,000 budget is not too heavy for a Class B club. Admissions in Class D cannot average more than 50 cents a head, which on the basis of 30,000 attendance, gives an income of $15,000. In trying to make a quick computation of the expected revenue in Class D this is a rule of the thumb which this organization has used for years.

Anent the Culliton Quotes:
Mr. Bernard Culliton is quoted quite extensively in the paper and he says he has no reason why Kingston should "shake itself inside out to support any big league organization." I agree with Mr. Culliton and we have not asked financial aid from the city or from anyone else. But we do reserve the privilege of removing the franchise if the loss becomes too great. I think Mr. Culliton would do the same thing. I don't know his business but if he thinks that an average $25,000 loss for a Class D club is a normal expectation he would be a bad business man if he ever got into baseball.

I know at the time when the public hearing was held in Kingston that the operation for Kingston was a fore-doomed venture. But we were already pledged to the league and to various men in Kingston, and I had not expected the type of meeting which resulted. I resolved to keep our part of the bargain, and that is give the City of Kingston the best possible operation that we could for the 1947 season, but I did not expect to come out whole financially.

In a situation such as we had in Kingston last year, neither a different manager, business manager, nor ball club, nor Barnum himself could have made the venture successful. I do hope that Kingston has baseball this coming year. I think that professional baseball would be accepted much more readily now than it was a year ago, and it is a fine city. I wish we could be back but we do have a president and a board of directors, and even if I were so inclined, I am sure that common sense and prudence on the part of my employers would prohibit any such action.

Thanks again for your help during this past season. I am
Very truly,
Signed:

St. Lawrence-Gettysburg Play Here Nov. 13, 1948

Football Game Set for Stadium

St. Lawrence University of Canton, N. Y., and Gettysburg College of Gettysburg, Pa., will clash in a football game at Kingston municipal stadium, Nov. 13, 1948, according to the 1948 St. Lawrence schedule, released today by Athletic Director, Roy B. Clogston.

Selection of Kingston as a neutral field was the result of negotiations conducted by Arthur G. Laidlaw, superintendent of Kingston schools, and Clarence S. Rowland, according to E. Donald Frick, St. Lawrence's publicity director.

Mr. Laidlaw, a member of the St. Lawrence Board of Trustees, was instrumental in arranging the game, while Mr. Rowland cooperated from the Gettysburg angle where he has very close ties.

It will be the eighth and last game of the campaign for the Laurentian gridder.

Bullets Won Opener
The game will be the second contest in a two-year series inaugurated between the two eastern colleges this fall. Two weeks ago, the Bullets edged St. Lawrence, 20-7, at Gettysburg after the latter had held a 7-6 halftime advantage.

Prior to their Kingston game, the Larries will take the Union, Vermont, Hobart, Clarkson, Champlain, Alfred and Norwich in that order. Four of these teams—Vermont, Hobart, Champlain and Norwich—were not on the 1947 St. Lawrence schedule.

In 1946 St. Lawrence's fine stall college eleven won five straight games before dropping its last two contests. This fall injuries handicapped the Larries as they compiled a 3-5 record over the season's play.

Fuller's Defeat V.F.W., 48-41; Stay In Pennant Race

Fuller's Fashions romped over a hard fighting Veterans of Foreign Wars quintet, 48-41, to retain a mathematical chance for the Y Autumn League crown Saturday at the Y court, but the victorious Vets were hardly pushovers.

The Vets wound up the season in the ignominy of eight straight defeats, yet there were moments in the game when they appeared capable of effecting the biggest upset of the season.

Fuller's were in front 18-12 at halftime and rode to victory behind the effective shooting of Al Bruce and the Book brothers.

Bruce led with 15 markers, while Charlie Book poured in 11 and brother, Eddie, had 11. Ryan and McGee shared 17 points for V.F.W.

Clippers Win
Powered by McDonald and Greene, who swished the cords for 30 points, McDonald 16 and Greene 14, the Kerkensons Otto Clippers subdued Miron's Lumber 48-32, with a strong second half burst. They led 28-23 at the half.

Maykowitz led Miron's with 11 points, while Kaplan accounted for 9.

Wiltwyck Motors upset the Pioneer A. C., 38-33, clinging to a slim lead throughout a bitterly fought contest. Al Hunt of Wiltwyck was individual scoring leader with 13 points, one more than the Pioneer's Charlie Marable.

Evelyn Moore Blasts 648 Series at Recs

Bomber Batters 245, 182, and 221

Clustering strikes for games of 245, 182 and 221, Evelyn Moore, the dynamic "Blonde Bomber" of local bowling circles, rolled 648—the highest series of her brilliant career in competition Sunday in a special match between the Kingston Stars and Newburgh at the Central Recs.

Miss Moore's tremendous pinning, representing the highest score ever rolled by a Kingston woman outside of Rose Schatzel, led the Stars to an overwhelming 179-pin triumph over the powerful Newburgh combine which had edged the locals by 4 pins in their first meeting in Newburgh.

The Bomber's series was marred by three misses, all in the third game when she slumped to 182. The Stars piled up a commanding lead with a 919 blast in the opener and followed with 870 and 873 for a hefty 2662 series. Newburgh shot 2489 with a high of 154.

Only 200 Games
Strangely enough, Miss Moore's 245 and 221 were the only 200s in the match, despite a flock of 500s on both sides.

Marge Jensen, the imperturbable sub-anchor, fashioned a 549 total high game as Jack Barley opened with 133 and wound up with 502, a pin higher than Rose Schatzel's 501.

Royal DeCrosta, Newburgh's hard hitting anchor, paced the visitors with 190-540. Marie Wendel was runnerup with 189-514, while Babe Rhone had 181-504.

The victory was the third straight for the Stars who have vanquished Middletown, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh by wide margins in their last three starts.

Highland Cagers Prep For Wappingers Opener

Coach Frank La Falce is busy tuning up his basketball squad for the opener with Wappingers Falls December 5. The cagers didn't start practice until this week.

The Highland mentor hopes for a successful season in spite of the loss of most last year's varsity squad.

Among the players due to see action with the southern Ulster club this season are Jack Auchmoody, Chuck Busic, Bob Kansas, Ed Cappinno, Gene Coy, Dan Corwin, Ken Craig, John Dimsey and Ernest Dammeir.

More than 40,000 American Indians were employed in war industries during World War II.

Only Two Grid Titles In Doubt After Saturday

With Michigan definitely entrenched as the Big Nine champion and heading for the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day against Southern California, several conference football championships were decided Saturday as follows:
Ivy League—Pennsylvania.
Big Nine—Michigan.
Big Six—Kansas and Oklahoma.
Big Seven—Utah.
Big Three—Princeton.
Pacific Coast—Southern California.
Missouri Valley—Tulsa.
Southern Conference—William & Mary can clinch by beating Richmond Saturday.
Southeastern Conference—Mississippi (5-1) can win with a triumph over Mississippi State. A Mississippi defeat and a Georgia Tech victory over Georgia would give the Yellow Jackets the championship.

Although none of the unbeaten teams were toppled off their perch, Saturday's busy schedule saw some upsets including Northwestern's 28-13 victory over Illinois; Indiana's 16-14 win over Purdue; North Carolina State's 7-2 triumph over Virginia; Maryland's 20-6 win over Vanderbilt; and Tennessee's 13-6 victory over Kentucky.

Ol' Diz Admits He's Puzzled Doing Football Announcing

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 24 (AP)—Dizzy Dean, the man who has coined more unusual expressions than anyone since Mark Twain—but with different use of the grammatical rules—confessed today to the ambition to be an all around sports announcer.

The former big league pitcher entertains the fans with his broadcasts from St. Louis during the baseball season.

The Dallas gentleman farmer tried his hand at announcing a football game from Station KLFJ here yesterday from play-by-play wire reports and declared the game was too rough for him in several ways. Besides, he said, "the only play I called right was the kick-off."

"Now, I can tell 'em when a guy slid into third in a baseball game, but keepin' up with all these fellers runnin' around in football will run a guy nuts," he said.

Dean called nine plays of the Cleveland Browns-New York Yankees pro grid game with Gordon McClendon, the regular station announcer, doing most of the work.

Calls Football Rough
"If I hadn't had that guy to carry the ball it shore would be a mess," said Dizzy.

Dean described football as "unnecessary roughness," and declared "heck, it takes a college graduate to call a football game and I just went through the second grade."

Referring to the officials as "umpires" and "those guys wearing striped pajamas," he said the head linesman was "a guy with a gun who must be low on ammunition or a poor shot, because I ain't seen him hit nobody."

He observed that "the only

is sold and installed only by heating men?
PETRO
OF COURSE!

Your heating contractor knows home heating. With all his experience and technical know-how to help him, he understands how to install your Petro Oil Burner correctly — so it will give you the many years of low-cost fine performance built into it by the makers.

When you place your heating problem in the hands of an established heating man, you put it where it will receive the same care, common sense and good judgment that were used in building up that contractor's entire business reputation.

Serious Blight

A chestnut blight a few decades ago wiped out practically every grove of chestnut trees in the United States.

Heavy Snow Blows

snow came with the temperature hovering around the freezing mark and it turned to slush as it fell on the warm ground in eastern Iowa, northern Illinois and northern Indiana.

A cold wave "considerably below normal" was moving eastward from the high plains area and was expected to spread over most of the midwest by morning, the weather bureau said. Temperatures at Chicago were expected to begin dropping this afternoon from a high of 32 degrees and reach a low of around 15 tomorrow.

The midwestern cold blast extended from North Dakota, where Fargo reported an icy -9 today, into the southwest, the weather bureau said.

Rain was reported in the Ohio and Tennessee valleys but elsewhere the nation generally had clear or partly cloudy weather with temperatures near the seasonal normals.

The United States has about 26 million dairy cows.

Pleads Not Guilty

Ralph Sottile, 245 Broadway, pleaded not guilty in city court this morning to a charge of reckless driving, and his case was put over until Wednesday, November 26. Arrested Sunday evening, Sottile was also charged with driving with charges on that count were dropped today when he produced his license in court.
